An Email About My New Class

一封關於新班級的電子郵件

Hi Jenny, How are you? I started junior high school in September, and I want to tell you about my new class. At first, I was nervous because I did not know anyone. But my classmates are very friendly, and now I have many new friends.

My best friend is Peter. He is talkative and humorous, so he always makes everyone laugh. He is also honest. Last week, he found a wallet on the MRT and gave it back to the owner. Another friend, Mei, is shy and quiet, but she is a diligent student. She studies English every night. I was lazy before, but now I study with her.

Our teacher, Ms. Wang, is kind and patient. When we make mistakes, she never gets angry. She just explains again with a smile. I feel lucky to be in this class. What about your new school? Please write back soon! Your friend, Lily

文法與句型 Grammar

S + V ..., so + S + V ...

so 是連接詞，表示「所以」，前面是原因，後面是結果。注意 so 與 because 不可同時使用。

He is humorous, so everyone likes him.

他很幽默，所以大家都喜歡他。

S + never + V

never「從不」是頻率副詞，放在一般動詞之前、be 動詞之後，句子本身用肯定形式。

She never gets angry with us.

她從不對我們生氣。
