Four Seasons on My Calendar

我日曆上的四季

Some people say Taiwan has only two seasons: hot and hotter. I don't agree. Each season on my calendar has its own color and taste. Spring starts in March. The weather is warm, but it rains almost every afternoon. On weekends, my family goes to Yangmingshan to see the cherry blossoms.

Summer comes in June, and it is very hot and wet. In July and August, we have no school, so I wake up late and go swimming with my cousins in the evening. Typhoons sometimes visit in September. When a typhoon comes, we stay home and watch movies all day. Autumn is my favorite season. From October to November, the air is cool and dry. It is the best time to ride a bike along the river.

Winter in Taiwan is short, but January can be cold and gray. I still love it because of the Lunar New Year. We get red envelopes and eat hot pot with Grandma. Then, in early February, the year begins again. I can't wait for the next spring!
