A New Friend from Far Away

來自遠方的新朋友

"Good morning, everyone. This is Ethan. He comes from the U.S.A.," said Ms. Lin. Ethan smiled and said hello in Chinese. The whole class laughed and clapped. "Which part of America are you from?" asked Kevin. "Texas," Ethan said. "It is a big state. You can drive for a whole day and still be in Texas!"

At lunch, Ethan asked many questions about Taiwan. "Is Taiwan a country or an island?" he asked. "Both," Wendy answered. "Taiwan is an island, and our nation's full name is the Republic of China, or the R.O.C." Ethan looked surprised. "Is that the same as China?" "No," said Kevin. "China is across the sea. We have our own government and our own money."

After school, the class took Ethan to a night market. He tried stinky tofu and shouted, "This is the best food in the world!" Everyone laughed again. Ethan said he wants to learn more Chinese and visit every country in Asia. "Now I have friends in Taiwan," he said. "The world feels smaller today."
