Class 802 Builds a Beach-Cleaning Robot

八年二班打造淨灘機器人

Last Saturday, Class 802 of Linkou Junior High won first prize at the city science fair. Their project was a small robot. The purpose of the robot is simple. It picks up metal cans and plastic bottles on the beach. The class leader, Wang Yu-ting, said the idea came from a trip to the beach last summer.

"We saw a pile of garbage on the sand," Yu-ting told this newspaper in an interview. "Pollution is a big problem for our planet. We wanted to do something about it." The class held a meeting every Friday during the lunch period. At first, the robot made many mistakes. It picked up rocks and leaves instead of cans. But the members did not give up. They changed the program again and again, and the robot made good progress.

The result surprised everyone. In the final test, the robot picked up thirty cans in ten minutes. The judges said the project showed the importance of teamwork. The class will use the prize money to build a bigger robot. "Next, we want a robot that works in the mud," Yu-ting said with a smile.
