After-School Life in Class 901

九年一班的課後生活

Last week, our class did a survey about after-school life. Thirty students answered ten questions. The results are quite interesting. Almost everyone goes to a cram school at least twice a week. Twelve students go nearly every day. Only three students never go. They usually study at home with their parents.

Sports are also popular. Half of the class often plays basketball or badminton after dinner. However, girls seldom play ball games. They would rather ride bikes or walk together. Sleep is a big problem. Most students hardly ever sleep before eleven. Actually, five students said they sometimes sleep at one o'clock! They are always tired in the morning.

Finally, we asked about phones. Nearly all students use their phones for more than two hours a day. Even the top student in our class uses it a lot, especially on weekends. What does this tell us? Perhaps we are all too busy. We need more sleep and less screen time. We will probably do the survey again next term and see if anything changes.
