Notice: Yangmingshan Hiking Trip Safety Guidelines

公告：陽明山健行安全須知

To all Grade 9 students and parents: The annual school hiking trip to Yangmingshan will take place on Friday, November 21. Because the weather in the mountains is unpredictable, the following guidelines are vital for everyone's safety. Please read them in a thorough manner and sign the form at the rear of this notice. A specific list of what to bring is printed on the back.

Clothing and equipment: Wear proper hiking shoes with a solid grip. Sneakers with worn soles are useless on the steep, slippery stone steps near Qixing Mountain, especially after rain. Bring a water-resistant jacket, as sudden showers are typical of the area in late autumn. A reliable flashlight and a whistle are required, even though we plan to return before dark. Backpacks should be tight and secure so that nothing swings when you walk. Do not bring sticky snacks or glass bottles; a sensible choice is a sandwich, fruit, and at least one liter of water.

On the trail: Stay with your group at a steady pace, and keep the teacher in front of you visible at all times. Some sections are tricky, with stiff ropes to hold on to; use them properly and never run. If you feel unusually tired or notice a severe headache or dizziness, tell a teacher immediately; this is urgent and should never be hidden. Mobile phones often have no signal in the valley, so a vague plan like "I'll call you" is not acceptable. Students who leave the trail will be sent back with a teacher.

Finally, remember why we go. The view from the top is splendid, the hot-spring steam rising from the valley is vivid and unforgettable, and the sense of achievement after a tough climb is well worth the effort. With careful preparation, this will be a safe and worthwhile day for all. For further questions, contact the Student Affairs Office before Wednesday.
